Seamless access to your subscriptions for all your users

OpenAthens simplifies access to your organisation's electronic resources. With a single username and password your users get access to all your subscribed resources, whenever they want and wherever they are.

OpenAthens is...

✔ Designed for librarians

OpenAthens lets you provide your users with a single username and password for access to your subscribed online resources. Users can have seamless single-click access on-site and easy access when off-network, whether on a mobile device or off-site.

Administration tools are librarian orientated, making it quick and easy to manage usernames and introduce new resources. OpenAthens comes with a customisable portal, MyAthens, which provides quick links to resources and the option to add useful content such as discovery service search boxes or library opening hours.

✔ Powerful

OpenAthens provides flexible control for you to manage access rights so different user categories get access to the specific set of resources they need for work or study.

Comprehensive usage statistics show how often content is accessed and by whom, so you can assess the value of your subscriptions. Statistics are available at a user, category and organisational level.

✔ Simple

OpenAthens comes with a smart tool set for easy account administration and users get one username and password to access all subscription content.

OpenAthens offers a fully hosted solution, so there is no need for software to be installed locally and the need for local IT support is reduced. OpenAthens comes with full customer and technical support.

✔ Secure

OpenAthens ensures only authorised users can access your subscribed content and it is completely independent of your internal systems, keeping patient data records safe. As a fully supported product, OpenAthens is hosted on a secure, high availability platform.

✔ Flexible

OpenAthens can also integrate with your organisation's local directory, making library resources another application that works with your own set of usernames and passwords. You can start with the hosted version and then move to the integrated solution when the time is right.
